

Culture Works Grant Panelist Nomination Form

Culture Works recruits community members from the Dayton Region to serve on the panels that select recipients for funding through the organization's grant and scholarship programs. Panelists are selected based on their knowledge of and involvement in the arts, business and nonprofit management, and the community. Special attention is given to ensuring that the panels reflect the demographics of the community.

Panel responsibilities vary somewhat by program, but in general, panelists are responsible for reading and scoring applications for funding, attending specific programs and exhibitions of the organizations applying for funding, and participating in a public meeting where the merits of each application are discussed with fellow panelists. Culture Works provides training materials in advance to prepare panelists for this important process.

Do you know someone who might be interested in serving as a panelist? Please nominate them using this form, and Culture Works will follow up with your nominee. While the number of nominees will likely exceed the number of available panel positions, Culture Works will retain all submissions for consideration for future panels. Each nomination contributes to the diverse pool from which our panelists will be drawn.
